Twelve Unusual Values in Nursery Stock

FOR SEVERAL YEARS we have kept records of the species and varieties called for by the most cultured of our customers, and guided by their taste, and by our own experience, we are now prepared to offer these combinations of ornamentals. DOES ONE OF THEM FIT YOUR NEEDS? If not, perhaps you may attain the desired effect by combining two or more of them, or by adding to them plants of your own selection from our general catalog.

These offers are only good until April 1st. Or to be more exact, only during the month of March, 1926. For each and every plant offered, March is an ideal time for transplanting, provided that the soil can be gotten into good order. But the number of absolutely first-class specimens we have in stock does not allow us to hold the assortments unbroken longer than this. Further, the nature of the nursery business is such that there is great demand for the services of our digging and packing and shipping force in the latter part of the spring instead of the first part, although the early-planted plants live better and make a larger growth the first season than those planted late in April or early in May.

SPECIAL OFFER No. 1

To furnish shade for a medium-sized lawn. The Elms should live to be a hundred years old, and in that time hold their arching branches over thousands of us short-lived humans. The Willow is a special variety often planted for quick shade—it grows from six to ten feet a year under good conditions, and will make you a good-sized shade tree while you wait. The White Birch, with its snowy bark, and the Catalpa, with its large heart-shaped leaves and beautiful clusters of blossoms, are probably known to you. If not, you will gain by making their acquaintance.

Two American Elms, 6 to 8 ft.	$3.00
One White Birch, 4 to 6 ft.	1.50
One Solomon's Willow, two years old, 10 feet	2.00
One Catalpa speciosa, 4 to 6 ft.	.50
Regular Price	$7.00
Until April 1st	$5.50

SPECIAL OFFER No. 2

You pay twelve dollars and transportation cost, plant and care for them properly, and our trees will serve you for the rest of your life.

One great student and grower of Evergreens has recently said, "An Evergreen is like an old friend—the stress of years—the strife of a lifetime only make richer his noble character. So is a home surrounded by Evergreens like a man with many true friends." Here are eight pairs of these "true friends," which we have raised from their infancy, and can wholly recommend to you. SPECIAL OFFER No. 5

This is our "Six for Ten" offer. All planters nowadays ask first for Evergreens, and the brisk demand caused by the multitude of ways that Evergreens can be used to add beauty to buildings and grounds has caused specimens like these to be scarce and decidedly expensive. This choice little group can stand by themselves, or they are so matched in size and color that they will blend perfectly with the larger number in Offer No. 4 above. Thus you may at the reasonable figure of $32.00 obtain a selection that we challenge you to duplicate elsewhere for less than $50.00.

1 White Pine, 3 to 3½ ft.	$2.50
1 Red Cedar, 3 to 4 ft.	2.25
1 Upright Juniper, Swedish, 2 to 3 ft.	2.00

1 Hemlock, 2 to 2½ ft.	2.50
1 Boxwood, 12 to 15 inches	1.25
Regular Price	$12.50
Until April 1st	$10.00

TERMS: Remittance must be sent with order. But in case your ground cannot be prepared in March, we can reserve the plants and ship when you wish, provided that the combination is ordered before April 1st.

SPECIAL OFFER No. 6

The selection below has been planned and grown by us after a thorough study of that common problem—the new house that has not been blended into its setting by a planting around the foundation. Such a planting should not consist entirely or even mostly of one thing—so we offer you thirty-two specimens in sixteen varieties. These will give you constant enjoyment, but not unchanging—for they will change with the seasons.

A lawn without a boundary planting is often like a picture without a frame, less attractive, and more exposed to careless injury, than it should be. Of course you can surround it with a fence, but why not use something that will beautify while it serves. For full choice and information, we invite you to consult the list of "Hedge Plants" in our general catalog. Our experience in serving many homes has shown that nine hedges of every ten are planted of California Privet or Japan Barberry. So we have grown a specially fine, large lot of both, and offer them below—plants of such a size that they will perform their duty this year.

SPECIAL OFFER No. 9

Plants for a 100-foot Hedge of California Privet, two feet high, wide and bushy, to be planted 8 inches apart.

Climbing Roses have been a hobby with us for many years, with the result that we know just which kinds grow fastest and best. So we can offer the ones below with assurance that they will have good, clean foliage, and in their season (for they are not everblooming) they will be literally covered with charming flowers. For covering board or wire fences, sides of barns, garages, or other buildings, or for pergolas, they are good. Thorny? Yes, but the ladies will have roses, thorns or no thorns.
